

Golf Architect Desmond Muirhead

Desmond Muirhead designed over 100 golf courses around the world and was named by Golf World as “the most innovative golf course architect of the last 100 years.” He is one of the most respected golf course architects in the world and many would say the “greatest of all time”.

Muirhead is described as an innovator and a visionary with knowledge beyond comparison. A humorous man, contagious in every good way.

The beauty of Desert Island and the surrounding desert area can be viewed from every hole. The absence of housing-lined fairways provides a peaceful setting. The mature trees lend to the traditional layout and all blend together providing a unique, outstanding golf experience.
